NORTH SEA AFFAIR

The International Commission Investigating It Makes a Semi-Official Statement.

IT IS A VICTORY FOR RUSSIA.

It Gives No Opinion on the Question of Presence or Absence of Jap Torpedo Boats.

Declares the Russian Admiral Legitimately Believed His Squadron in Danger and Had a Right To Act As He Did.

Paris, Feb. 23.—A semi-official statement appeared relative to the work of the international commission which has been considering the North Sea incident. It is as follows:
"The Hull commission met in the ministry of foreign affairs, and again in the afternoon in order to proceed to a final examination of the report, recapitulating its conclusions. The report is rather long. The principal author is Adm. Von Spaun (Austrian), but all the members of the commission collaborated in drawing it up.
The commission gives no opinion on the question of the presence or absence of Japanese torpedo boats in the North Sea, declaring merely that the Russian admiral legitimately believed that his squadron was endangered and that he had the right, under the circumstances, to act as he did.
The commissioners refer to the Russian government's engagements to indemnify the victims of the deplorable incident."

British Comment.

London, Feb. 23.—A strong chord of indignation is sounded by the London daily newspapers over the semi-official statement relative to the decision of the North Sea commission giving to Russia the victory, but it is still hoped that the publication of the full text of the commission's report may modify the impression produced by the preliminary version, which is one of intense disappointment.

The Daily Mail goes so far as to declare that the decision has dealt a death blow to arbitration. Some of the newspapers blame the government strongly for ever consenting to subject such a matter to arbitration while some of the government organs find cold comfort in the fact that the country by doing so avoided war with Russia. No question is raised that the decision must be respected and Great Britain's share of the heavy costs will be ruefully paid; but it is held that the decision leaves the question of a neutral right on the sea in a deplorably unsatisfactory state, and creates a dangerous precedent.

STRUCK BY A SABER.

Unknown Man Attempted to Shake
Hands With the President.

Washington, Feb. 23.—The president apparently is not annoyed by an incident which occurred in Philadelphia while he was driving from the Academy of Music to the armory, where he was the guest of the city troops at luncheon. Before the presidential party reached the city troop armory an unknown man dashed into the street and got within eight or ten feet of the president's carriage. There he was struck by the flat of a saber by one of the four troopers who surrounded the president's carriage, and checked by the force of the blow he staggered back and was lost sight of in the crowd. The man appeared to be a laborer about 45 years of age.
Those who witnessed the incident believe that he merely sought to shake hands with the president.

BATTLE WITH YAQUIS.

Two Score Were Killed and 167 Prisoners Taken.

La Colorado, Mex., Feb. 23.—The Mexican forces under Gen. Torres, numbering about 400, have killed two score of Yaquis and taken 167 prisoners in a two day's battle with the savages in the mountains east of this camp. When the fight ended Gen.
Luis Torres, with his staff, two-thirds of his force and the prisoners returned to La Colorado. The Mexican officers refused to make any statement of their own losses until they make official report, but private settlers of the force who took part in the fight say they were considerable, although there were sick and wounded among the returning troops.

A Japanese Loan.

Tokio, Feb. 23.—As a result of a conference with the bankers of Tokio, Yokohama, Osaka, Nagoya and Kyoto, the government has determined on a fourth domestic loan of 100,000,000 yen, to be issued at 96 per cent. and payable in seven years.

Wireless Telegraph System.

Colon, Feb. 23.—Orders have been received from Washington to resume the installation of a wireless telegraph system with the station on the spot originally selected. It is expected that the work will be completed in three months.

Found on the Dissecting Table.

St. Louis, Feb. 23.—The body of Harry G. Thompson, 20, who left the home of his father, George B. Thompson, at Atlanta, Ga., last May, was, through the father's efforts, found on the dissecting table in a medical college.

THE FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Second Session.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The senate passed the bill appropriating $9,940,- 000 for the District of Columbia and the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill carrying $2,156,000. The diplomatic bill received the attention of the senate for only 12 minutes and was passed without discussion. A special feature of the day was the acceptance of the statue of Frances E.
Willard, the distinguished temperance advocate, which has been placed in Statuary hall in the national capitol by the state of Illinois. The senate terminated its controversy with the house over the amendment construeing the provision in the Dingley law relative to the drawback on imported wheat by receding from the amendment inserted in the agricultural appropriation bill as it passed the senate.

In order to facilitate action at this session on the statehood bill the house passed a resolution sending that measure as amended by the senate directly into conference without an opportunity being afforded to debate it.
With the exception of Mr. McClachland (Cal.), who voted with the democrats, party lines were strictly drawn. After several hours' discussion the naval appropriation bill was laid aside and the house entered upon exercises appropriate to the reception and acceptance of the statue of Frances E. Willard, presented by the state of Illinois.
Washington, Feb. 21.—Whether the senate conferees on the statehood bill will represent the party that defeated joint statehood for Arizona and New Mexico, or the party that fought for the retention of that provision was debated at length in the senate, but no decision was reached. The usual manner is to name as conferees the two ranking majority members and the ranking minority member of the committee having the bill in charge. In the present case it was contended by Senators Stewart and Teller that the conferees, if so named, would not represent the sentiment for the bill as passed by the senate.

The house, after a seven hour session, passed the naval appropriation bill, carrying a total of $99,914,359.
The provision for two battleships, as reported by the committee on naval affairs, was retained. Both the majority and minority were badly divided over the proposition, at least 40 members of the latter going over to the republicans, while about an equal number of republicans voted in opposition.

Several important changes in the bill were made. The proposed increase of 1,200 men and officers for the marine corps was stricken out, as was also the provision authorizing the construction of a collier somewhere else than at the Mare Island navy yard in California. In order to do the work better an item of $175,000 was inserted for the proper equipment of the Mare Island yard. Several times during the debate the assassination of Grand Duke Serгий was referred to, the subject being brought up by Mr.
Baker (N. Y.), who condemned the action of President Roosevelt in sending a message of condolence to Russia expressing the sentiment that the government and American people viewed the act with abhorrence.

passed the military academy appropriation bill and began consideration of the Indian appropriation bill. Early in the day in response to a question, Mr. Elkins, chairman of the committee on inter-state commerce, expressed the opinion that it would be impossible to secure railroad rate legislation during the present session of congress. The senate took up the Isthmian canal bill.

The house passed the Philippine tariff bill, practically as it came from the committee, with but little discussion. There was no especial opposition to it, although amendments coming from the democratic side designed to put certain products on the free list met with defeat. An effort to prohibit the importation of opium into the islands except for medicinal purposes also failed. Immediately after the Philippine tariff bill was disposed of the house took up the river and harbor appropriation bill, but it was soon laid aside, and several measures were passed, the most important of which was the authorization given the secretary of war to return to the several states union and confederate battle flags.

AFTER THE BEEF TRUST.

A Special Federal Grand Jury at Chicago Ordered.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—A special federal grand jury venire was ordered and ten deputy United States marshals sent out with subpoenas summoning more than 25 members of the so-called beef trust. When the federal grand jury has been sworn in these men will be taken before it and an attempt will be made to indict persons restrained by Judge Grosscup's decision in the beef trust case, which was recently sustained by the United States supreme court. It is said this action is the outcome of orders from Washington.

TROUBLE INCREASING.

Shops Were Pillaged and Fighting Occurred in Many Parts of Baku.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 22.—Telegrams from Baku report that the disturbances there are increasing and that fighting has occurred in many parts of the town, that shops have been pil-laged and houses burned, and that the inhabitants are panic-stricken. Serious disturbances are also reported at Balakhany, eight miles north of Baku and troops have been summoned thither.

Training of Cadets.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Under instructions from the president a joint board of army and naval officers met at the army war college bridging to consider and report upon the possible training of cadets at the United States military and naval academies and the question of swords and swordsmanship in the army and navy.

CRY OF WOLF! WOLF!

THRILLING STORY OF A CY-CLIST'S TERRIBLE RIDE.

Ignores Hasty, But Timely Warning, and Has to Ride for His Life —Overtaken But Is Saved.

There were obvious signs of thunder when I set out to spend the evening with my friend at S—. A bright harvest moon shone down, lighting the road before me. Away, almost on the horizon, a heavy bank of clouds growled ominously and at frequent intervals.
Riding steadily, I was at length brought to a standstill by the road branching off in opposite directions.
My memory of the way up to this point had held me good. But now I hesitated, doubtful which of the two roads I should take. Whilst in this dilemma, I noticed the figure of a man approaching.
"Is this the road to S—?" I asked.
Without heeding, the man hurried on.
I repeated my question. This time he heard, and, half turning, nodded his head.

"What is the matter?" I shouted.
"Wolf—escaped—from menagerie at G—" he gasped, in a terrified voice, and vanished round the corner.

Laughing to myself at his cowardice, I mounted my machine and was soon gliding along the quiet lane. Strangely, up to the present, I had felt no alarm at the thought of a wolf roaming the country. But presently I began to experience a distinct sensation of nervousness.

By now a heavy bank of clouds obscured the moon. The darkness was intense. Still I rode on, making good progress, my path at times lit up by dazzling flashes of lightning.

Suddenly my lamp went out. Dis-mounting, I struck a match, and had just succeeded in kindling the wick, when a strange noise fell upon my ears. I listened intently.
The regular pit-pat of some approaching animal sounded clearly in the dark stillness. That instant, a flash of lightning lit up the road. I looked! I gasped! In the brilliant glare a gray-

"WOLF—ESCAPED—FROM MENAG-ERIE," HE GASPED.

brown object was visible, rushing headlong towards me.
"The wolf!" I shrieked, and, springing on my bicycle, fled, filled with mad panic.

How I kept my balance I cannot say.
The mortal dread of what would happen should I fall seemed to sap the strength from my limbs. Once I thought I had outdistanced the creature. I glanced behind, as another flash turned darkness into day.
Pit, pat, with red tongue lapping and swinging from side to side, I saw the brute, clinging tenaciously to the chase.
By now my knees ached intolerably, my breath came in sobs, and I felt as if my chest would burst. Then, just as despair had overwhelmed me, I saw the lights of a farmhouse not 20 yards ahead.

I pulled up abruptly. A moment later my fists beat wildly against the door. Suddenly a dark object bounded towards me. My mind reeled, and I collapsed on the doorstep, unconscious!

When I came to my senses I found myself seated in a big arm-chair. Bending over me, a broad smile overmantling his face, stood the master of the house.
"Where is the wolf?" I asked, feebly.
"Wolf!" he laughed. "Why, there is the terrible wolf, sleeping peacefully at your feet! It was our old sheep-dog all the time. He mistook you for my son.
Well, well, he gave you a little exercise!"

System to Prevent Railway Collisions.

An interesting change was recently made in the signaling system of New Zealand's railway, which, it is thought, will make collisions impossible. It is called the "tablet system," the essential point being that no engineer is allowed to leave a station without a tablet in his possession, and the machines are so made that it is impossible for two of the tablets to be out at the same time.
It is claimed by railroad experts that under this system two trains cannot be on the same section at once, so that the danger of collisions is entirely done away with.
